Rights of women at work place

- Protection against sexual harassment
- Work with dignity in a safe environment
- Equal treatment

What is sexual harassment?

Sexual harassment includes anyone or more of the following unwelcome acts (whether directly or by implication):

1. Physical contact or advances
2. Demand or request for sexual favours
3. Making sexually coloured remarks
4. Showing pornography
5. Any other unwelcome physical, verbal or non-verbal conduct of sexual nature.

Procedure to file complaint

- Written complaint to be filed within 3 months from the date of incident
- If the aggrieved woman is not able to make a complaint in writing, the ICC will provide assistance to her for making the complaint in writing.
- The time limit can be extended for not over 3 months, for which reasons have to be stated in writing by ICC.
- On receipt of the complaint, a copy of the complaint to be sent to the respondent within 7 days and ask the respondent to reply within 10 days, with list of documents, name and address of witnesses.
