

Program Specific Outcome

Apply knowledge and principal of mathematics; transform methods, probability, applied differential equation, discrete mathematics, in support of electronics and telecommunication system.

Analyze design and implement communication systems and electronic sub systems that confirm to given specification

Demonstrate skill to use modern electronics engineering test and measurement instruments and proficiency in hardware and software integration.